Republican members of the legislative committee. The Democratic senators have written to Hampton to get his consent to keep the report in South Carolina, but so far his influence is the other way, and in consequence he and Butler are quietly quarreling. If Cameron et al. get the report, they will first hold it over Patterson's head to get his vote to unseat Butler. If they do not get it they will not offer to unseat Butler. Hence all depends on its fate, and this is what has thrown Patterson into a sick bed. The pre cariousness of his situation was too much for his physical constitution. If the mo ion to unseat Butler is made in the form of a sub stitute to Butler's resolution calling for an investigation of charges against himself, the substitute will in some way provide for re-viving Corbin's claim for a seat. In the meartime Butler is securing evidence agains Corbin in South Carolina, and against certain Republican senators who sought to influence Patterson's vote in seating Buller by threats of a decision in the habeas corpus case. In this connection, it is stated that Wood's resolution calling for all sorts of investigations is to be allowed to pass after a show of opposition The resolution covers such an investigation as would bring out what W. E. Chandler knows of the manner in which Hayes secured his seat. This the Republicans are to allow. To show, however, that the Republicans are not united in this, a senator who is hand-inmony, but hardly for a reconciliation.

As for other matters of public policy, Mr. Hayes remarks that he has seen no cause to reconsider any action of the past, generally speaking, and no reason to modify any purpose which he may have formed or announced at any previous period of his administration. Without referring specifically to the New York appointments, but evidently having them in mind, he observed that he

THE TEXAN TROUBLES.

General J. B. Robertson, an Old Bor der Man, Talks of Outrages, the Grensers' Estred of Americans. and Wants the Sierra Madre Made the Boundary Line.

Philadelphia Times: "War between the United States and Mexico is bound to come, sir, sooner or later," said General J. B. Robertson, yesterday. The general, who during the war commanded the famous "Texas brights in the war commanded the famous "Texas brights". ade" in the army of Northern Virginia, is an old Texan, and knows the history of every public man and public measure in the Lone Star State. He took an active part in the revolution whereby Texas gained her inde-pendence, and commanded a regiment in the wars between the infant republic and Santa Anna. He is the owner of a large cotton plantation near Brenham, and is a fair representative of the wealthy conservative class in his State. Occasionally stroking his long grizzly beard and speaking with a strong southern accent, the old warrior continued: "I have arrived at an age, sir, when the ardor of youth is cooled and the spirit of strife spast. I want peace, and the people of my State want peace; but, at the same time, we want to be protected in our lives and proper ty, as the people of other States are protected. There has not been a period of three months in 1270 that here was writtened as wild of thorities is largely responsible for this. The 'greasers,' who are the predominant class on the Rao Grande border, are ignorant, treacherous, cruel and blood-thirsty. They have no more conception of the extent and power of the United States than the wildest Indian of the plaine and they think that our failure to the plains, and they think that our failure to pursue and punish them is the result of fear. They are the finest horsemen in the world, and constant practice and innumerable revolutions have made them splendid soldiers. They will ride seventy-five miles on their hardy native horses in twenty-four hours and live on a ration of three red peppers the size of currants and a quarter of a pound of jerked beef. The first article of the greaser's creed is hatred of Americans. Lerdo is now trying to regain power by fostering this sentiment. Every revolution in Mexico since Texas gained her independence has hinged upon hatred of the Americans. DRY ROT ON THE BORDER.

"I think that Diaz in power—in power, mind you, not Diaz fomenting a revolutionhas an honest desire to prevent these raids, but he is powerless. Witness the raid or prise to the premier, and also the source of intense annoyance; but it is likewise well known that the premier has been giving instructions to Mr. Layard, the ambassador at the premier has been giving instructions to Mr. Layard, the ambassador at the murdoses should be appropriated to that the murderers should be surrendered to the Texan authorities. The officers in Matamoras tendered their resignation rather than comply with the order. Their resignations were not accepted and the men were not surrendered. The cattle-raising interests of Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr, Lapata, Webb, Maverick, Crockett, Pecos, Presideo and El Paso counties, lying along the Rio Grande for a distance of five hundred miles, and of the distance of five hundred miles, and of the counties adjoining, comprising the finest sheep and cattle grazing land in the world, have been almost runed, and that part of the State is being depopulated. Brownsville, once a thriving city, is struck with a dry-rot. Capital will not go where it is not protected.

"It is not true that the Mexicans engaged in the El Para viet as it to called." in the El Paso riot, as it is called, were American citizens. That county contains fif-teen hundred Mexicans, men, women and children. This, according to the usual computation, and according to the facts, leaves one hundred and sixty-six male adults. Onethird of these are peaceable citizens, engaged in stock-raising. Another third are herders and peaceable men, leaving about fifty lounging about San Elizario. Where did the six hundred men come from? From Mexico, sir. The trouble about the salt mines furnished an excuse which the greasers on the other side of the Rio Grande were waiting for.

"A little incident, which occurred not long ago, furnishes an example of the almost universal hatred of the Mexicans for Americans.

A wrestling match between a noted Mexican wrestler and an American came off at one of the theaters in the City of Mexico. The American threw the Mexican three times. The andience were wild with rage, and the successful athlete only escaped with his life by making an exit through a rear door and taking to his heels THE GREASERS HAVE THINGS THEIR OWN WAY. "It has often been said that the thing about even between the two countries, that about as many cattle are run across from Mexico into Texas as from Texas into Mexico. This is untrue, from the very good reason, if for nc other, that there are no cattle in Mex-ico, on the Rio Grande border, to steal. Stock-raising there, excepting sheep, has been abandoned, and the wealthy, conservative Spaniards are leaving the country, for their property has been for forty years at the mercy of every guerrilla chief and his hundreds of cut-throats, with which the country is infested. The border States are given over to the greasers. Their armies, which are continually marching under one banner or another, never have a wagon-train and drive no cattle with them, but subsist off the country. Pres-timos are levied upon merchants, and the money squandered at the monte-table. The officials, from the alcalde down, know of every cattle raid that is made into Texas, and share in the spoils. "We want no more Mexican territory if we must take its population with it. The Rio Grande, however, is not the natural boundar, between the two countries; the Sierra Madre mountains are. This chain is a continuation of the Rocky mountains, and runs to Tampico on the gulf. The distance between the Rio Grande and the mountains is about seventy-five miles in the State of Tamaulipas, and becomes gradually less toward the upper Rio Grande. West of the mountains is the great desert of San Luis Potosi. One thousand American soldiers stationed in the Sierra Madre mountains could protect our frontier better than five thousand on the Rio Grande. We want no more Mexican territory, but we want protection, and I see no other way to accomplish it. The greasers cannot be civilized and made good citizens. There can never be peace on our border until our government makes its power felt."

CATARRH Of Ten Years' Duration. The Discharges Thick, Bloody, and of Foul

Odor. Senses of Smell and Taste Wholly Gone. Entirely Cured by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

Messra Weeks & Potter; Gentlemen — I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit Saxford's Radical Cure has been to me. For ten years I have been afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, emitting a foul odor so bad that my presence in a room with others was very offensive to them. One week after commencing the use of Saxford's Radical Cure I was not troubled with it at all. My senses of faste and smell, which were usfolly gone, have now ally returned, and my general health is much improved. Fours, MELBOURNE H. FORD GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 3, 1876.

LATER. Gentlemen: The package of Sanford's Currentived here to-night all right. I don't know what I should have done if it had not been for this remedy. I have tried Nasal Douches and everything else, and although I have been able to stop the offensive discharge, I have not been able to recover my senses of taste and smell until I tried Sanford's Curr. You can refer any one you choose to me, and I will cheerfully inform them in detail as to the benefit the remedy has been to me. Yours, MELBOURNE H. FORD.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE not only promptly arrests the corroding discharges in Catarrh, but, by sympathetic action, it restores to sound health all the organs of the head that have become affected by it, and exhibit any of the following affec-
